Hierarchy Hears Belgian Primate

Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, addressed members of the American Catholic Hierarchy Wednesday morning, September 24, on the occasion of his first annual meeting at Catholic University. Cardinal Mercier conveyed the gratitude of the Belgian people to the American Catholic Hierarchy and Catholic people generally.

He said that close had been the ties of Belgium with the United States in the past, owing to the equality of democratic constitutions and habits of both peoples they would still be more intimately related by reason of American generosity and the common labors and sacrifices sustained since the entry of the United States into the conflict.

His expressed astonishment at the splendid growth of Catholicism in the United States, and assured his hearers that he would never tire of describing to his people the marvels of both charity and education which he had witnessed since his arrival in America.

Cardinal Mercier remained to dinner with the bishops, and after dinner spent a pleasant hour meeting them individually and renewing his acquaintance with several whom he already knew.

Dr. Goodell Coming to First Congregational

A real contribution to the civic and religious interests of the city is being made by the First Congregational Church in bringing to the city some of the leading clergymen of the country. Of the men who will grace the pulpit of this church during the coming month few men have had such uninterrupted success in public life as the Rev. Dr. Charles L. Goodell, who will speak each Sunday in October, excepting October 26, at the morning and evening services.

Dr. Goodell's success in building up churches is phenomenal. For years he has spoken every Sunday to the largest Protestant congregation in New York city. He is recognized throughout the country as a man with a message, and is in constant demand. This past year Dr. Goodell was chaplain for two weeks at the University of Chicago and preached at the big Sunday Evening Club in Orchestra Hall.

The purposes are, first, to demonstrate the real attitude of the young people of the District in matters religious. Second, to present solid, unbroken front to the forces of evil at work here. Third, to exhibit the real power and force in Christian young people's united efforts to overcome the usual fall drag in young people's work. To act as a huge rally and furnish the necessary inspiration for the year's program by at least three months.

The first night is to be devoted to a symposium on all phases of young people's work—short helpful, worth while speeches and special music. The second night a great inspirational rally will be addressed by Dr. George R. Stewart, of Birmingham, Ala.

Many Workers Volunteer For Special Service

While the Baptist 75,000,000 campaign has announced as one of its aims the enlistment of 5,000 young men and women for special Christian service, such as ministerial and missionary work, and has designated Sunday, October 26, as a day for "calling out the called," information comes that many young people have already volunteered their services under the spiritual impetus of the campaign.

In the Cullman Association of Alabama alone a total of 125 young people have agreed to devote themselves exclusively to missionary work, sixty-one young men and women of Knoxville, Tenn., make such declarations at one service in that city, while Miss Alice Harby, field representative of the Women's Training School of the southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, had reported 140 volunteers at the beginning of September.

FRENCH PLANE SETS SPEED RECORD

A new official world's record for speed flight was made yesterday at Villa Coublay, France, when a Spad one-place plane flew at a speed of 184 miles an hour over a marked course, according to word received by the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association today. The record is announced as official by the aeronautical section of the French army. The Spad carried a 200-horsepower Hispano-Suiza motor.

At the same time a Spad two-place plane, carrying a passenger weighing 140 pounds, traveled at a speed of 175 miles an hour over the course.

These records have both been surpassed by unofficial American records. One of the fastest flights for two passengers was made when Lieut. Philip Lucas, formerly adjutant of Bolling Field, with Col. M. A. Dargue, Department of military aeronautics, made the flight from New York to Washington in 30 minutes at a speed of 173.5 miles an hour, exceeding the new French record by 2.5 miles per hour. Lieutenant Lucas flew a De Havilland 4 equipped with a 400-horsepower Liberty motor. This record was made March 6, 1919.

With a favoring wind Col. Walter G. Kling, passenger, and Lieut. Albert Smith flew 115 miles from Riverside to Rockwell Field, California, in 38 minutes, at a speed of 180 miles an hour. This flight was also made in a De Havilland 4, 1919.

The fastest one-man flight ever recorded was made on January 25, when Lieut. Robert B. Baker flew from Fort Sill to Oklahoma City, ninety miles in 22 minutes, at an average speed of 245.4 miles an hour. Unfortunately this record was not official, though it was well attested by air service officers.

Marshal Foch to Arrive In U. S. on Armistice Day, Paris Report Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Marshal Foch's arrival in New York is scheduled for November 11, unless his activities following the ratification of the peace treaty prevent his departure from France, says a copyrighted dispatch from Paris to The Sun. November 11, it will be remembered, is the first anniversary of the armistice.

It is reported here the American Legion is sending a special commission to Paris to wait on Marshal Foch and place itself at his disposal. It will accompany him to America.

Personal canvassing of the 645 Harvard men who are residents of the District will start this afternoon in the local campaign to aid in raising $15,000,000 as an endowment fund for Harvard University.

As the local drive opened last Wednesday, members of the local executive committee believe that ample time has been given all Harvard men here to respond voluntarily to the printed appeal mailed to them early in the week. Those who have not yet contributed will be visited at once and will be given an opportunity to subscribe.

Congressman John J. Rogers of Massachusetts has been placed in charge of the canvassing of the twenty-seven members of Congress who are Harvard men. Six of them are Senators and twenty-one are Representatives. Congressman Rogers will be assisted by a committee composed of Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, Frederick W. Dallinger of Massachusetts, and George H. Tinkham of Massachusetts.

More Canvassers Needed.
The executive committee already has a large corps of canvassers, but because of the size of the task an appeal for additional helpers has been issued. It has been suggested that some Harvard men who are unable to contribute financially or who are direct care to devote their time to the drive by donating part of their time as canvassers. Several Harvard men have already availed themselves of this opportunity.

Contributions still are being received at the headquarters of the executive committee, room 715, Union Trust building. Checks should be drawn payable to Charles F. Adams, treasurer of Harvard College, the legal name for the university.

One of the most interesting contributions so far received was from a Washingtonian, whose mother was a descendant of the Rev. Charles Chauncy, second president of Harvard College. In every generation since the Rev. Mr. Chauncy was president, 1854, there has been a member of the family at Harvard College.

The national campaign has resulted so far in the raising of approximately $2,000,000, with many sections of the country still unheard from, according to a telegram from New York received by Judge Sidney Ballou, director of local publicity. The telegram, in part, reads:

"With Greater New York retaining its lead over Boston by a narrow margin, the figures for the endowment fund now stand at $1,944,645. New York's total since the opening of the drive is $1,944,645, or $1,000,000 more than the Greater Boston committee reports a total of $791,000. Figures from the West are coming in more slowly, and it is thought that the actual amount for the West is much higher than the available figures indicate."

A striking feature of the results lies in the comparatively small number of gifts which have been received by the New York committee from women and from men who are not Harvard graduates. Women have subscribed $27,000, and non-Harvard men $30,000.
